

EXPLANATION IS DEMANDED

Germany Demands To Know Why United States Censors At Sayville Suppressed Official Announce- ment—Officials Admit Dispatch- es Were Censored.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The German government, thru Count von Bernstorff, its ambassador here, today formally asked the United States to explain why the American wireless censors at Sayville suppressed the official announcement of the German admiralty of the reported sinking in the North sea of the British cruiser Arabis on February 11.

News reporting the loss of the Arabis reached the United States from Berlin via London, passing thru the British censorship. On February 12, however, a Berlin wireless direct via Sayville was passed, saying that another ship in addition to the Arabis had been sunk in the same engagement.

Officials Admit It

At the navy department it is admitted that Berlin official dispatches have been suppressed by the Sayville censors because they considered them coming under the inhibition of Secretary Daniels' orders permitting passage of war dispatches "provided no reference is made to movements or location of war or other vessels of belligerents."

It is explained that this order was made in the interest of neutrality and the fact that the German government itself authorized the Arabis announcement is not considered to have altered the situation. The question probably will be taken up by officials more fully.

The British government contends that the ship destroyed were mine sweepers.

Steamers Destroyed

New York, Feb. 16.—The Steamships Bolton Castle and Pacific, and a 900 foot pier belonging to the New York Dock Co. at the foot of Pioneer street, Brooklyn, were destroyed early today by the most disastrous fire on the Brooklyn water front in years. Another steamer, the Belgrano, was damaged, about 25 scows and lighters were partly or wholly burned. The loss is estimated at considerably more than $1,000,000.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but suspicions that it was incendiary were aroused because of the fact that some of the steamers were loading with war munitions, some of which was intended for shipment to the Russian government.

A watchman aboard the Bolton Castle discovered that the buildings on the pier were in fire soon after 1 o'clock this morning. The blaze spread so rapidly that the officers and crews of the steamers and lighters lying at the pier, after a vain effort to prevent the spread of the flames to their vessels, were compelled either to leap over board or to seek safety aboard other lighters or tugs which hastened to the rescue.

Thos. Many Lost

The three steamers lying at the pier were surrounded by a fleet of about 50 lighters and barges on each of which was one man or more. On some of the barges were the wives and families of the captains. Some of them were compelled to jump overboard to escape the swift onrush of the flames.

Firemen and policemen dragged many of them out of the water to adjoining piers and others were rescued by tug boats or fire boats. It was not known here early today whether all had escaped death.

The captain of the Bolton Castle was able, after the fire, to account for only 42 of the 63 persons composing the ship's company while the captain of the Pacific could account for only 35 of the 60 officers and crew of that steamship. Those missing were mainly coal stokers.

Captain Benjamin Smith of the Bolton Castle and six of his crew made their escape from the burning vessel by crawling hand over hand on a rope to a barge. Mrs. Smith fell in the water, but was rescued by sailors.

When the first company of firemen reached the scene, the pier was blazing so furiously that they could not gain access to it. The Belgrano was towed into the stream 200 yards or more off the dock but it was impossible to move the other two ships.

Fire boats saved the Belgrano but could make no progress against the flames on the other two vessels.

Dresden Man Lands Plum

Harrold, Wooster; Paul Bainter, Dresden, examiner, $1200; M. L. Van Meter, Columbus Grove, and Henry R. Endly, Mansfield, assistant examiners, $1200.

Pneumonia Claims Charles Speaks Wednesday Morning

Funeral services for Charles C. Speaks, 24, who died at the City hospital Wednesday morning at five o'clock, will be held Friday morning. Short services will be held at the home on Cassingham avenue at 11 o'clock and immediately afterwards the funeral cortege will proceed to the Prairie Chapel where Rev. I. D. Rice will have charge of the obsequies. Interment will be made in the Prairie Chapel cemetery.

Speaks first complained of ill health Wednesday evening of last week and did not go to work Thursday. He was able Saturday to walk to the office of Dr. Marshall to receive medical attention. Tuesday, however, his condition became alarming and he was removed to the City hospital about 7:30 o'clock that night. Death was due to pneumonia.

Charles Speaks was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Speaks, who now reside at Blooming Grove. He was born in Bethlehem township and spent the greater part of his life in that township. At the age of thirteen he united with the Blooming Grove M. E. church and retained his membership until death. Mr. Speaks enjoyed a wide acquaintance and was held in high esteem among his associates.

In addition to the widow, Speaks is survived by his son, Carl, parents, and two brothers, Forrest and Harold, both of the Blooming Grove vicinity.

Bernstorff Gives Latest Lusitania Note To Lansing

Washington, Feb. 16.—Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador today presented to Secretary Lansing the latest draft of the Lusitania agreement embodying the changes suggested by the American government, also one change suggested by Berlin. The indications were that the agreement in its present form would be acceptable to the United States.

Count Von Bernstorff presented formally the draft of the agreement and it is understood was informed it could not be accepted as final until it had been submitted to President Wilson.

The indications were it seems satisfactory to Secretary Lansing.

When Count Von Bernstorff came from Mr. Lansing's office after a visit of less than ten minutes, he said:

"Gentlemen, I refer you to the secretary of state."

Almost at the same time Mr. Lansing sent out this message: "I have nothing to say."

As now drawn and formally signed by the German ambassador the agreement is in reply to the last American note.

The Lusitania negotiations have approached the settling point so many times, only to be delayed by new developments, that administration officials today were not ready to say that the final draft was entirely acceptable for they explained no one but President Wilson himself could decide that.

The fact that the agreement before the last revision was substantially in accord with the views of the President, leads them to a confident belief that the long controversy surrounded by so many dangerous perplexities was at last coming to a close.

Ohio Grand Lodge Will Be Held Here Tonight

Representatives from many of the districts in the state will be present it is expected and Grand Master Edwin C. Wright and Grand Secretary C. H. Layman will be present to conduct the meeting. One of the most important features of the evening will be the giving of instructions by the grand officers upon the unwritten work of the order. Past Grand and Grand Lodge degrees will also be conferred and it is especially important that all third degree men be present.

Jno. Lane Sentenced To Works

John Lane, well known local barber, was found guilty of assaulting his wife and given a fine of $25 and costs and a sentence of 30 days in the Canton works by Mayor H. L. Richardson.

The trouble occurred Sunday when Mrs. Lane alleges her husband dragged her about by her hair and stamped his foot in her face. Lane has been arrested several times on similar charges. He was taken to Canton Wednesday by Chief of Police Mapel.

The only change in the directorates is that J. R. Burt takes the place of John R. Turner, of New Jersey, in the Enameling Co. and C. H. Magruder takes the place of John R. Turner in the Art Works. The Enameling Co. also adopted a resolution authorizing the transfer of the corporation from New Jersey to Ohio.

The directors of the three companies will meet in a few days to select officers for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Edward A. Stone, of Plainfield, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Forbes Carroll, of Denman avenue.

Denies Service Co. Will Operate In Zanesville

In commenting on an article in a Zanesville exchange, Manager C. H. Howell, of the Ohio Service Company, contradicted the statement that his company has offered to donate $5000 toward the building of a viaduct across Wilks Creek at Cambridge provided the municipality will give the company permission to operate its cars across the structure if it so desires. He declared that the company at present has no definite plan of extending its service west of New Concord. This refutes the rumor that the company plans to enter the commercial lighting field in Zanesville.

BACK TO $1.25.

Wheat advanced five cents in the local market Wednesday and is now quoted at $1.25. An advance in the Toledo grain market was responsible for the raise. Owing to the variable condition of the markets millers are unable to forecast how long this figure will be quoted.

ABANDON PLANS FOR LOCAL RACE MEETING

WAR TAX RECEIPT.

E. S. Fisher, of Bethlehem township, has two valuable relics of Civil war days which he showed to a Tribune reporter yesterday afternoon. One of the relics is a receipt issued to him on August 10, 1864, for $4 paid into the military fund. The receipt is signed by Sam Lamberson, who was then county treasurer.

Another valuable relic is a copy of The Coshocton Democrat dated, August 24, 1864.

Mine Run Cause Of Deadlock

Mobile, Ala., Feb. 16.—Another attempt was made today by the operators and miners of the Central competitive bituminous coal fields to reach an agreement on the demand of the United Mine Workers asking pay on the mine basis. The subcommittee to which all miners' demands were referred is deadlocked over that proposition.

Hope has not been abandoned that an agreement will be effected here. There was much concerning among groups of operators and miners last night and today in which suggestions looking toward an agreement were broached. One that has been developed is that if western Pennsylvania operators will not agree to the mine-on system that the operators of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois endeavor to draw up a three-state agreement and let western Pennsylvania negotiate a separate wage scale.

Fall From Tree Causes Death Of Henry Gewe

Funeral services will be conducted at the family home in Dresden at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Bright will be in charge.

Racing Association Refuses To Enter Into Competitive Bidding For Lease of Fair Grounds July 4 — Would Result In Additional Loss To Members.

At a meeting of the racing association held last night, it was definitely decided to abandon plans for holding a race meet here next July. In view of the fact that past race meets have never proved successful, financially, the association decided that the action of the agricultural society in leasing the fair grounds July 4 to the highest bidder would result in a greater loss than ever before in case a race meet should be held.

Question Discussed

President H. T. Clark, of the racing association, said last night that the question had been discussed at the meeting, which was well attended. "The advantages of a summer race meet to business generally, to the agricultural society in bringing better horses to the county fair and in shaping the track at a great expense to the race association, were pointed out at the meeting," said President Clark. "The fact that the Coshocton Racing Association is not an organization for profit, each meet having cost members of the association from $600 to $900, was also brot out. The association feels that the agricultural society is looking on the mercenary side of the question and should we attempt to conduct a meeting under conditions made by the latter society it would undoubtedly add still greater loss to the racing association.

All Of

"It was unanimously decided not to enter into competitive bidding for the grounds on July 4 and the idea of a race meeting at any time this year was abandoned."

President Clark, on behalf of the association, expressed his thanks to the individual members of the association who have contributed so liberally to past race meets and his regret that fans are not to enjoy a local meet this year.

Last night's meeting adjourned subject to the call of President Clark but it is not that there is any possibility of the project being revived this year.

Mrs. Forney Called Away Two Million Fire Damage

Thru a telegram Wednesday Linton township relatives received the news of the death of Mrs. Josephine Forney at Denning, Washington, where she had spent the past thirteen years in an endeavor to withstand the ravages of tuberculosis which caused her death. Mrs. Forney was born and reared in Plainfield. Owing to the unpassable condition of the mountains which are covered with snow the body will not be brought to Plainfield for some time. Interment will be made in the Plainfield cemetery.

Estimates made by owners of property and proprietors of stores in a section of the business district swept by fire early today indicated that the total loss would be approximately two million dollars.

A score of buildings, including an apartment, hotel and several of the largest retail stores in the city, were destroyed and many others were badly damaged. There was no loss of life.

Firemen Fight Hard

A determined stand made by the firemen in the rear of a long line of burning buildings kept the flames from spreading to a congested tenement house district. Residents of these wooden tenements, frightened at the prospect that their homes would be lost, fled to the snow-covered streets with little clothing.

Can't Explain Origin

Police and firemen early in the day were unable to put forward any theory as to the probable origin of the fire. It started in the basement of the four-story brick building at the corner of South Main and Spring streets, occupied by the department store of the Steiger company.

ATTENDS FUNERAL.

David Rice, of Coshocton, attended the funeral services held Wednesday at Tunnel Hill for Martin Wolford.

Two Attachment Cases Are Taken Before Judge Glenn

A peculiar situation arose Wednesday in Justice E. G. Abbott's case during the hearing of two attachment cases when questions of law were brot up which the squire did not feel able to decide and at the agreement of the attorneys for both sides, motions to dismiss the actions were overruled in order that the suits might be appealed to the common pleas court to get a ruling from Judge James Glenn in regard to the matter. The attorneys were instructed to prepare briefs and file them in common pleas court.

The first of the contested cases was that of A. Lapp, a Wilks Creek merchant, vs. Elmer Jennings, a coal miner, to collect $111.17 alleged to be due for necessities furnished the defendant.

Knotty Problems.

The defendant's attorney, L.

N. Staats, made a motion to dismiss the action on the grounds that the defendant had given an order on another merchant with whom he was now dealing for all his wages until further notice. Whether this procedure was a legal evasion of obligations was a puzzler to the squire, and the motion was overruled.

The second case was that of Noah Cutshall against William Smith, who was defended by Attorney Joseph H. McDowell. The defense argued that the action should be dismissed as the defendant was the only support of his mother. It was testified that the mother works, and has another son. Whether the defendant was then the only support in the eyes of the law, the justice did not know and so overruled the motion allowing the case to be appealed.

Big Turbine For Ohio Service Co.

Urichsville, Feb. 15. — The Ohio Service Company has placed an order for a 33,000 horse power steam turbine, which will be installed the coming summer in conjunction with the company's present generating units of approximately 15,000 horse power. It is said that increase in the use of the company's service, particularly in Tuscarawas county, will in all probability warrant the installation of this unit in the company's No. 2 steam plant at New Philadelphia. In addition to this the installation of the necessary boilers and power house extensions will also be made next summer and these are expected to be in complete operation on or before Sept. 1, 1916.

ENGLAND FACING A HARD PROBLEM

Adoption of Conscription Bill
Recalls Draft Riots in 1863.

DISORDERS NOW EXPECTED.

Great Britain, After Months of Delay, Finds It Necessary to Compel Citizens to Join the Fighting Forces—What Lincoln Said in Days of Civil War, When Similar Steps Were Taken.

In England they call it "conscription," in America "draft." But the parallel between the conditions under which compulsory military service was adopted in the United States and the circumstances in which it becomes effective in Great Britain is quite complete.

In the sixties the United States was fighting for the preservation of the Union.

Half a century ago the United States adopted conscription as a method of obtaining recruits at a time when volunteering had almost entirely ceased, owing to the poor success of the Union commanders in the war with the south; England today requires more men for the successful prosecution of the war than ordinary methods of appeal have secured—more men by far than extraordinary efforts, including the Derby campaign, have won for the colors—and the "slackers" are unwilling to enlist in part because the prestige of victories in the field belongs largely to the enemy's arms.

In this country in 1863 there were large numbers of able-bodied men who were eligible for military service; in Great Britain in 1916 there are great numbers of eligible men who of their own accord do not come forward to enlist.

Also in the time of the civil war the government at Washington tried to avoid resort to extreme measures, but adopted conscription at last, while in England there was a long period of hesitation, and at last obligatory service is adopted.

The Draft Riots.
And finally in this country there were serious riots when the draft began operations, and in England the possibility of serious disorders has had the grave study of the premier and his advisers. Also in both countries a process of registration of all citizens eligible for service preceded the inauguration of conscription.

There are many persons who remember well the terrible days in mid-July, 1863, when the streets of northern cities were full of rioters, and the disorders had to be quelled by force of arms.

In New York the rioting lasted four days, in which the loss in killed and wounded men was nearly 1,000, and the damage to property, public and private, was estimated at more than $1,500,000.

The disorders were not so serious in other cities. In Boston there was one riot, which threatened to assume formidable proportions, costing at least seven lives and the wounding of a score of persons. There was trouble in Portsmouth, N. H.; rioting occurred in Troy, N. Y., and there was a deal of commotion in Holmes county, O.

This is the story of the draft and the riots which it occasioned, with a minimum amount of attention to the big riot in New York and a rather full statement of the troubles in Boston.

When the elections of 1862 were held the party of the administration was defeated in such important states as New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. The adverse verdict against the party of Lincoln was a protest against the sacrifice of such vast amounts of life and treasure without the accomplishment of very great military results.

In some states the draft already had been put in operation, but as a state measure, to secure men for the militia. In Pennsylvania and Wisconsin there was open violence against it in August, 1862.

By 1863 volunteering had almost

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our sincere and heartfelt thanks to all our neighbors friends and relatives for their kindness and sympathy shown us in our late sorrow and bereavement in the great loss of our dear beloved husband, father, son and brother, John D. C., friends and neighbors for the beautiful floral offerings. Also the singers and undertaker, Mr. Hailon.

The bereaved wife and daughter, mother, brothers and sisters.

ceased. The efforts by the states to use the draft were not satisfactory, and at length a conscription act was passed by the national congress and approved on March 3 of that year. This draft operated directly upon the people of the nation instead of through the states as intermediaries.

In the south a conscription act was rigidly enforced. President Lincoln refused to suspend the draft or to delay it while waiting for a supreme court decision upon its legality, saying: "We are contending with an enemy who, as I understand, drives every able-bodied man he can reach into his ranks, very much as a butcher drives bullocks into a slaughter pen." "My purpose is to be in my action just and constitutional and yet practical."

The words of Lincoln apply to the situation across the water today and state the case for conscription almost as Lord Northcliffe himself would put it. With conscription it will be interesting to watch events and see what forms opposition may take and how stern that opposition may be. Human nature is a good deal alike on both sides of the water and does not alter much in a half century of "progress."

Cagadig Gignadab.

There was a quaint old man in Manchester, England, who for many years went by the unique name of Cagadig Gignadab. His original name was John Smith, and for many years he brooded over the possibilities of mistaken identity involved in it. The name figured frequently in criminal records, and he became abnormally apprehensive lest he might be confused with some of the bad John Smiths. At last what he feared so much actually happened.

One morning the papers reported the arrest of an accountant in a bank for embezzlement, and through some blunder of the reporter the identity of the embezzler was confused with the subject of this article, who was also a bank accountant. Then and there he determined to assume a name like unto no other ever borne by mortal man. And in Cagadig Gignadab most people will agree that he succeeded in so doing.

POSTOFFICE BILL MEETS OPPOSITION

Railroad Men in Washington to Fight the Measure.

GREAT QUESTION INVOLVED.

Government Would Substitute Space Occupied in Cars and Not Weight as Basis For Paying the Carriers—Wants Trying to Submit Liquor Question to Voters of District of Columbia.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Feb. 15.—[Special].—The capital has been filled with railroad men for some time past, and they have been making the strongest kind of effort to stave off the legislation contained in the postoffice appropriation bill substituting space for weight in determining railroad mail pay. But it seems likely that the legislation will pass this session. There will be a fight in the senate, but few men wish to risk the criticism that would follow support of the railroads, particularly when so many assertions are made that the contents of the post-office department are right. One great question involved in the controversy is the parcel post carrying. If the roads can maintain the weight system they will get more out of the parcel post than out of the space system.

The Only Way Out.
There is only one way out for the rails in regard to the proposed legislation for a dry capital. If they can have the matter submitted to the voters of the city dry legislation might be defeated.

The determination to try prohibition in Washington has strength enough to carry if it comes to a vote in congress. Not that a majority believe that it would be the best thing to do, but no man representing a dry district of party dry constituency is going to risk defeat by voting against prohibition.

Already those who give dinners, large banquets, etc., are wondering what they will do if the Sheppard bill becomes a law. The question of liquor at the foreign embassies will also become a vexed question.

Filling the Record.
Congressman Norton of North Dakota has beat all the other fellows in the matter of filling the Congressional Record. A short time ago he inserted in that free for all publication more than 100 pages of tables and figures showing the appropriations and expenditures of all sorts for the Indian service for the years 1906 to 1915, inclusive. Think of that mass of matter being unloaded into a congressional publication, sent free through the mails, and supposed to contain the proceedings of congress!

All efforts to make the Congressional Record a real record of what takes place in congress is unavailing. The leave to print in the house and the introduction of all sorts of things in the senate make it a general catch-all for all sorts of things.

The Joke on the More.
When Senator Newlands attempted to get ten millions for the education of the Philippines he had only three other votes to support him. One of his opponents was Senator Lane of Oregon. "The people of this country need aid," said Lane, "and no money need be appropriated for a people who would be glad to pay an equal amount to get us out of their country. I do not think it is going to make any difference whether the Moros speak the English language or their own or whether a Moro has 400 wives or one. If he annexes a large number the joke will be upon him and not on us. I am willing to let him fight it out for himself."

Locating the "Trickster."
Senator Bryan of Florida said that the Shackelford road bill was referred to the agricultural committee by a sharp trick. Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia protested that such was not the case, that the bill had been referred by the presiding officer. "The chair was the trickster," remarked Vice President Marshall, who had referred the bill and stood by his action.

Leaves of the Mississippi.
Millions have been poured into the hopper for the improvement of the Mississippi river, but most everybody knows that most of the money has been for building levees and not to improve navigation. Congressman Smith of North Carolina, a member of the committee on rivers and harbors, said so in a recent speech. It is one of the things to get around the question of appropriating federal money for improvements. As a matter of fact the levee system does not improve navigation. Dredging would have accomplished much more, and perhaps real dredging, such as has been done at Panama, would have been better than levees for the protection of the surrounding country.

Might Frustrate Him.
Congressman Sears of Florida was making a short speech on the child labor legislation, and Keating of Colorado sought to inject a question. "No, I fear to yield to the distinguished gentleman," said Sears, "because I realize that I am just breaking into the halls of congress, and I fear that by his wit and wisdom he might frustrate me."

NELLIE GRANGE TO GIVE PLAY

On Saturday evening, Feb. 26th, the Nellie Grange will give a play entitled "Civil Service." It will be given at the school building.

The last regular meeting of the grange was unusually well attended. A special feature of the "Preparedness Program" given at that time was the question, Resolved, That a system of preparedness is necessary for the future welfare of this nation. debated by two boys of the Nellie Grange, Arthur McDermott and Charles Norris for the affirmative against Prof. Busenbarg and Clyde Young of the Walhonding Grange.

The Nellie boys being much younger than their opponents,

GOOD RESULTS THRU PROPER MANAGEMENT

Is intelligent farm management worth while? In Broome County, New York, a man two years ago had a "worn-out" farm of 35 acres for $16.32 per acre, and in two years made it pay 32 percent on the investment. In addition he increased the market value of the farm several times. The purchaser engaged a tenant to live on the farm and work under his direction. The land had been cropped continuously for a number of years to hay and buckwheat and as a result was in poor physical condition and lacked productive-ness.

The first year the yield of potatoes from four acres was 90 bushels per acre. The next year the yield was 150 bushels per acre. Commercial fertilizer was relied upon both seasons.

never having debated in public and having received no coaching, for the occasion, can well feel elated over the jury's decision in their favor. The program was closed with a dialog put on by young members of the Walhonding Grange.

The program for the next meeting is as follows:

Song.
Roll call, A conundrum.
Reading, Mrs. Sells.
Recitation, Mrs. Walter Kammeke.
Paper, "The Greatest Need of the Home," Mrs. Crago.
Song, By the Ladies quartet.

THEATRES

A STIRRING CONGRESSIONAL ROMANCE IN THE BEAUTIFUL OHIO RIVER VALLEY.

The Mystic will show today only Dustin Farnum, recognized as one of the three greatest American actors in the finest performance of his career in "The Gentlemen from Indiana." Supporting Dustin Farnum is a splendid cast of celebrities which is headed by Winifred Kingston, the beautiful young London actress, and which includes Herbert Standing, Helen Eddy and others. Herbert Standing's performance of the unfortunate old university professor is nothing short of a masterpiece. The beautiful touches imprinted upon even tiny details, make this production not only big but fine; fine all the way thru; especially interesting is the march of the five hundred men across-country to raid and burn the nest of the Whitecaps at the crossroads, chanting that hymn of solemn rage "John Brown's Body."

Inducements to Matrimony.
There prevails in some parts of Brittany a curious marriage custom. On certain festive days the marriageable girls appear in red petticoats, with white or yellow borders around them. The number of borders denotes the portion the father is willing to give his daughter. Each white band denotes 100 francs per annum; each yellow band represents 1,000 francs a year.

Ends Dry, Hoarse or Painful Coughs Quickly

A Simple, Home-Made Remedy, Inexpensive but Unquestioned

The prompt and positive results given by this pleasant tasting, home-made cough syrup has caused it to be used in more homes than any other remedy. It gives almost instant relief and will usually overcome the average cough in 2 hours.

Get 2½ ounces Pinex (50 cents worth) from any drug store, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This makes a full pint—a family supply—of the most effective cough remedy at a cost of only 54 cents or less. You couldn't buy as much ready-made cough medicine for $2.50. Easily prepared and never spoils. Full directions with Pinex.

The promptness, certainty and ease with which this Pinex Syrup overcomes a bad cough, chest or throat cold is truly remarkable. It quickly loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals and soothes a painful cough in a hurry. With a persistent loose cough it stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the annoying hacking.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in quaiaccol and is famous the world over for its splendid effect in bronchitis, whooping cough, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

To avoid disappointment in making this, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

THE VALUE OF TRUTH

Truth in business is just as important as truth in every-day life; truth creates confidence, establishes good-will and builds a reliability that will not be wrecked by the storms of competition.

Through three generations people have learned to place reliance on the advertised words of Scott's Emulsion, because they are unvarnished, unexaggerated truths about a household remedy of real and actual worth.

The popularity of Scott's Emulsion is increasing as intelligence advances, because in these days of adulterations it continues to guarantee pure cod liver oil medicinally perfected with glycerine and hypophosphites to build strength, improve the blood and strengthen the lungs. It is free from alcohol or opiates—a wholesome food- tonic, truthfully advertised.

Attends Big Social Event.

Lloyd Strobe, a graduate in last year's class at Coshocton High school and now a freshman at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., has sent to Coshocton friends an account of the annual Junior prom of the university held on February 11.

The Wisconsin paper describes

BANISH SCROFULA

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cleanses the Blood, Skin Troubles Vanish.

Scrofula eruptions on the face and body are both annoying and disfiguring. Many a complexion would be perfect if they were not present. This disease shows itself in other ways, as bunches in the neck, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, wasting of the muscles, a form of dyspepsia, and general debility.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine completely eradicates scrofula. It purifies and enriches the blood, removes humors, and builds up the whole system. It embodies the careful training, experience, and skill of Mr. Hood, a pharmacist for fifty years, in its quality and power to cure.

Scrofula is either inherited or acquired. Better be sure you are quite free from it. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla and begin taking it today.

the affair as one of the most brilliant social events in the history of Madison. More than 1055 tickets were sold for the prom, which it is said, exceeds by four times the attendance at any previous Junior prom.

Mr. Strobe and his mother, Mrs. Ben Strobe were among the guests.

WHERE DRUGGISTS FLOURISH.

How the Business is Run in the South American Republics.

Latin Americans are great believers in medicines and, due to the scarcity of physicians, are obliged to "doct" themselves. Pharmacy is consequently profitable. With the exception of modern Europe, Canada and the United States pharmacy is practiced in other lands of the world much as it was in the United States seventy-five or a hundred years ago, and this is particularly true of the republics to the south of us.

The individual druggist makes his own pills, extracts, tinctures, infusions and pulverizes his own crude drugs. Soda water fountains are few. The usual rubber goods, toilet articles, soaps, perfumes, instruments and sundries are carried.

Each druggist makes a line of his own specialties which he pushes. In addition to the standard drugs and medicines, he also carries remedies and medicaments known only in his immediate vicinity. They are mostly of Indian origin, compounded from roots, herbs or other ingredients, produced only in the country where he lives. These find a ready sale among all classes.

Superstitious ideas are prevalent, and these are frequently taken advantage of by the unscrupulous. One pharmacist made a fortune selling Indians, half castes, and whites, for that matter, too, "pink love powders" and "white love powders." The white love powder was pulverized sugar, while the pink love powder was made of the same material colored. Indians would walk hundreds of miles to buy this precious powder.—Leslie's Weekly.

Definition of an Ohm.

An ohm, as defined by the international congress on electrical units and standards, is the resistance offered to the passage of an electric current by a column of mercury of uniform cross-section having a mass of 253.80216 grains and a height of 41.8332 inches at the temperature of melting ice.

In the bureau of standards at Washington are four standard ohms so perfectly made and kept that when tested recently their average deviation from their mean value was less than .0001 ohm.

Explains Why Men Are Growing Bald

Thousands of men are growing bald every day and don't know the reason why. Many of them never expect to save even what hair is left.

This is indeed a pity, says a specialist because baldness usually comes from carelessness and anyone who gives the scalp a little attention should always have an abundance of good healthy hair. Dust and dirt help to cause baldness by clogging the pores in the scalp and giving the dandruff germs fertile ground for breeding.

The treatment is very simple: Shampoo at least once in ten days and destroy the dandruff germs by applying frequently Parisian Sage, a delightfully efficient preparation that Wimmer-Arnold is now recommending as the surest treatment to stop falling hair, to remove dandruff and to refresh and invigorate the hair roots.

The cost of a generous bottle of Parisian Sage is very little and druggists everywhere have been authorized to offer it with guarantee of perfect satisfaction or money returned.

TRUTH STRANGER THAN FICTION

Rarely have romance and fiction invaded the realms of crime and evolved a stranger case than that of Sophie Lyons who the other day deeded property to the city of Detroit worth $35,000 to $40,000 with which to found a home where children of criminal tendencies might be reclaimed.

The life of Sophie Lyons is nearing its end. She is past 70 years of age. The story of her career furnishes the finest material for the novelist. From the ablest and shrewdest of modern criminals to a woman honored far and near both for the qualities of her head and heart, the history of Sophie Lyons' life reads like a piece of highly polished fiction.

Thirty years ago her name was written large in the criminal records at home and abroad. Paris, London, New York were all the same to Sophie Lyons. She hunted the world over. Her father was a blackmailer, her mother was a thief, her husband was a bank burglar. Sophie, herself, was a pickpocket and, in addition, the head and brains of an organized gang of thieves as cosmopolitan in their operations as Sophie was in her own particular line of law breaking.

In 1896, she committed her last theft. When she emerged from prison, penniless and broken in health, she told the police that they would have no more trouble with her. No one believed her. But Sophie meant what she said. She disappeared from her old haunts. "I can make money honestly," she had said, and set about it.

It was probably not easy for the woman to break with the friends of former days, but break with them she did. Then, with years of experience behind her—experience in the ways of the criminal and experience in the ways of honest folk—she came out of her retirement long enough to declare that crime did not pay. "Whoever can make a living by breaking the law," she said, "can make a fortune by keeping the law." She had proved it. Penniless twenty years ago, today she is worth $500,000.

"Don't preach sentimental reform at the criminal," advised Sophie Lyons. "Show him instead that he is wasting his time. Show him that crime does not pay." Lately, criminologists have agreed that Sophie's advice was sound. In New York the police commissioner is sending police officers to the city prisons and reform schools to preach Sophie's doctrine. It is effective, they say. It is making loneliest men out of thieves.

Sophie Lyons' life ought to be worth study. For forty years she lived outside the law, and this she was known everywhere as the queen of crime she rounded that period in prison and bankruptcy. For twenty years she has lived honestly; she is respected and she is worth half a million.

GRATITUDE

By Walt Mason

The truth's discouraging and hateful, but mighty few are truly grateful. We go around and spend our money to make the people's lives more sunny. We carry soup and pies and ganders to folks who have the yaller janders, we carry tea, in bowls of ebony, to some poor widow shedding briny, we cough up plunks, our bank roll dwarfing, to help the sad and needy orphan. They thank us then, in Greek and Russian, in High Dutch, Low Dutch, French and Prussian. So far as words go they are grateful: they hand up language by the plateful. But, in their hearts profanely smirking, they say, "What is the use of working, to earn our virtual bread-and-cheese, when jays like these are so blamed easy? They'll clothe us when we're looking seedy, they'll feed us when we're feeling greedy; they'll bring provisions to our attics, and dope us when we have rheumatics." Still, the unworthy some are proving, we on our kindly rounds keep moving, in tenements and cellars snugly, distributing our soup and jelly.

I Wonder if My Santa Claus Will Sail Across the Sea?

I wonder if my Santa Claus will sail across the sea
With ships of pretty Christmas gifts for "Little kids like me?"
I wonder if my Santa Claus will home-ward turn in flight
From soldier graves in Europe in the darkness of the night?
I wonder if the Belgian kids will look for Santa, too.
An' hang their little stockings up when he is passing through?
Wonder if my Santa'll go where there is danger?
Across the line in Mexico an' countries near an' far?
Will French an' German kids come out an' gather round his sleigh?
An' get the same precious gifts this comin' Christmas day?

I wonder if our Santa Claus will visit war-rin' zones
To feed the hosts o' hungry an' hear the d'-in' groans?
I wonder—yes, I wonder—if he'll bring back all the dead
An' the d'v'n in the trenches with water for their dead?
I wonder if all the children o'er the war's immense domain
Can have their fathers—brothers, too—brought back to them again?
I wonder if the fightin' Turks an' too—Turklets—will see
Will not a sight of Santa Claus when he is passin' through?
Oh, I wonder if our Santa Claus in the war-rin' lands away
Will give out bread instead o' lend this comin' Christmas day?

Save Your Hair! 25 Cent Bottle Stops Dandruff

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out. A little Danderine to-night—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few week's use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Letters and Postage Stamps.

"Strange ideas some people have about postage," said the clerk who opens the mail. "See this letter here with three one-cent stamps on it and stamped 1-cent due? That's a case in point. The writer of that letter thought that perhaps it weighed a little over an ounce, a little more than would go for 2 cents, and so he put on a little more postage—1 cent more—which he thought would cover it, when the fact is that it required an additional two-cent stamp. Of course you know that letter postage is not fractional, but that it goes in multiples of two. If a letter weighs ever so little over an ounce it requires an additional two-cent stamp. But not everybody seems to know this, and so we sometimes get letters like this one with a little more postage for a little more weight."—New York Sun.

Jenkins' Ear.

There was a war known as "the war of Jenkins' ear." It came about in the following way: In the year 1731 an English merchant vessel was boarded by a Spanish guardship, and the captain, one Robert Jenkins, was most cruelly used, one of his ears being torn off in the scuffle. Obtaining no redress by appealing to his government he appeared before parliament in 1735 when the convention of the Pardo was so excitedly discussed that war followed. Jenkins' story was verified by the admiralty records so recently as 1890.—Exchange.

Buildings are contrivances which surround trouble, despair, pleasure, entertainment, business, indolence and plumbing.

Buildings are built with brick, mortar, cement, wood, steel and mort gages. It also takes sand to build buildings, but they should not be built on sand.

Some buildings are public and some are private. Public buildings are usually very imposing, and usually the public has been imposed upon to build them. Private buildings are frequently private in name only, especially if occupied by several inquisitive women. Such buildings are made up of a large number of stories and most of them are without foundation.

Rats, mice, flies, earthquakes and rent collectors are buildings' worst enemies.—Judge

Some Easy Marks

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

To let you into a part of the plot at the beginning, so that it may not be so great a puzzle to your brain, it may be stated that there was a widow named Ridgeway living at Colville, a town of 2,000 inhabitants.

There was living, also, at Beach Hill a lawyer named Hammond. Beach Hill and Colville were forty miles apart, but the lawyer and the widow had somehow become acquainted, and perhaps they would have fallen in love had either been able to support the other. Five miles from Beach Hill was a place called Widowville. There was a good reason for it. Five widowers, all farmers, had built their houses there. Each widower had a lot of children, numbering from five to eight.

Between Beach Hill and Widowville was a farm of eighty acres called the Lester farm. In seven years it had had five tenants. The soil was so poor that they all starved out. This farm the Widow Ridgeway leased.

Of course the five widowers of Widowville heard of the widow's arrival and what she proposed to do, and they picked up their ears and said, that something would be doing. Enos Cook, who had the biggest number of children, was the first one to drive over and introduce himself.

Jason Turner was the next caller, and he went over the same ground and came away feeling just as good. So it was with Luke Harper, Moses Swift and Philatus Johnson. All looked upon the Widow Ridgeway as a prize to be won, and each one determined in his own mind to win her, though he didn't say anything to the others about it.

Two weeks had passed when they all called again, and this time their talk with the widow was more free.

It was at the third call that the plot developed. If the farmers could spare a little time from their own work they might play a little and plant a little for her and thus help her along. Of course they would. They would be only too glad to do it. What crop did the widow think would pay her best? She promptly answered that potatoes would probably be the best selling crop. How many acres? Why, she had figured out that about sixty acres would be the right thing.

Sixty acres of potatoes! Why, the average farmer thinks he has a big planting if he puts in ten. The widowers elevated their eyebrows in some thing like horror, but after a conference lasting an hour it was agreed to come to the widow's figures. When it came time for plowing the five brought their teams and plows and worked happily together. When they couldn't come themselves they sent their hired men. Sixty acres is a big field, but it was eventually plowed and dragged. It was then that the widow made an announcement. She gathered together the five tired men at the back door and said:

"My friends, do not think I lack modesty when I tell you that I know you are all in love with me and intend to propose marriage. I like you all. You are good and true men. I cannot as yet say that I prefer one to another, but I am going to carry out a plan. The one that does the most for me in this matter of the potato crop I shall look upon as being the most worthy to become my husband."

Satisfaction gleamed in the eyes of every widower.

To plant sixty acres of ground takes a heap of seed potatoes. The widow didn't have a peck. The five farmers chipped in and bought them for her. They planted them for her. When it was time they plowed them out and hauled them for her. Again, when it was time they dug them for her. When the tubers were ripe for digging the widow just sent a man to offer 50 cents a bushel, which was the usual price. Two weeks later, after it had been ascertained that hot another potato would be offered for sale in that part of the state, it raised its offer to 75 cents, and the widow took it.

When the last potato had been loaded up and drawn away the widow Ridgeway gave a banquet to the five farmers, and it was known that her choice was to be announced. The farmers noticed that eight plates were placed on the table. That meant two more persons were to sit down. They

The value and success of Swamp-Root are so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample size bottle. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Be sure to say you read this offer in the Coshocton Morning Tribune.

A Trial Will Convince Anyone. Thousands of people have testified that the mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, is soon realized, and that it stands the highest for its remarkable results in the most distressing cases.

Symptoms of Kidney Trouble. Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequently passing water night and day, smarting or irritation in passing, brick-dust or sediment, headache, backache, lame back, dizziness, poor digestion, sleeplessness, nervousness, heart disturbance due to bad kidney trouble, skin eruptions from bad blood, neuralgia, rheumatism, lumbago, bloating, irritability, worn-out feeling, lack of ambition, may be loss of flesh or salivary complexion, kidney trouble in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Swamp-Root is Pleasant to Take. If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores.

Excitement. People who easily get excited don't usually live nearly so long as people who keep calm. Excitement, in fact, wastes the vitality and affects one's health to a very great extent. This is true, too, of all who seek excitement, whether physical or mental. Excitement makes the pulse beat above the ordinary rate, and one's reserve of energy is used up so much the quicker. Occasional excitement, however, is very good for one's health, especially when the pulse is slow, but the natural condition of the body should be one of calmness and regularity.

Music and Dancing. It does not follow that in order to write successful dance music a person must be an expert dancer. It is said that, though Johann Strauss and his family wrote dance music for three or four generations, not one of them could dance a step.

BREAK UP BRONCHIAL COUGHS, CROUP AND COLDS PROMPTLY

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 Teaspoonful for 50 Cents

Don't neglect your first cold, cough or any Bronchial affection, this fall, but commence treatment immediately and through using the proper remedy, it can be checked from the very start and promptly cured, but a neglected probably will hang on all winter; if it does not develop into something more serious such as Pneumonia or Consumption. There are hundreds of thousands of cough remedies on the market. While some are good there are many which are not, but are positively harmful due to the narcotics which they contain. But why experiment with these different remedies, purely on the strength perhaps of some testimonials or on the exaggerated claims of manufacturers, when Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectant is sold by Wimmer-Arnold Drug Store on such a positive guarantee to give perfect satisfaction, yes even more money will be refunded by them if it is not ound the best remedy ever used in severe Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough or Croup, and it will also be found excellent for Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. Besides these drug lists guaranteeing that it will be the best remedy ever used, it will likewise be found the most economical, because one bottle (50 cents worth) takes a full pint (128 teaspoonful) of the most excellent medicine for any of the above affections, when used at home with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of water. It makes as much or more, as would cost you $2.00 to $3.00 of almost any of the ordinary ready-made kind, sold in bottles holding only 2 1/2 to 3 teaspoonful. You will be the sole judge yourself and under the same positive "Money Back" guarantee which the druggists make for the famous Asthmador. Absolute no risk is run in buying this remedy.

Rub Rheumatism Pain From Sore, Aching Joints

Relief awaits you. Old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" has cured millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings.

VEGETABLE CALOMEL

Vegetable calomel, extract of the root of the old-fashioned may-apple plant, does not salivate. As a liver stimulant, it's great. It's a perfect substitute for ordinary calomel (mercury); in fact, it's better, because its action is gentle instead of severe and irritating—and it leaves no mean, disagreeable after-effects. Physicians recognize this and prescribe may-apple root (podsophyllin, they call it) daily.
Combined with four other standard, all-vegetable remedies, may-apple root may now be had at most any druggist's in convenient sugar-coated tablet form by asking for Santalax Laxatives. If you forget the name, ask for the box that has the picture of the soldier on it.
These tablets are small, easy to take and are really wonderful little performers.
They quickly clean out the poisons that are causing you headache, constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, bad breath and coated tongue.
They are mild. They never gripe. And they are a bowel tonic as well as a cleanser and liver regulator. A 10c box should last you several weeks. A Physician's trial package (4 doses) will be mailed you free if you write mentioning this advertisement. The Santalax Remedies Co., 302 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

Nasty, Sour, Disgusting Taste Every Morning?

You get up with a mean, disagreeable feeling—an ill-smelling breath—a tongue with a scummy, bilious coating—Ugh! why do you? Why don't you wake up to the fact that you ought to do something. Your stomach needs attention—your bowels need cleansing—your liver needs stirring up.

YOU NEED PEPSINCO
and you need it bad. Pepsinco will fix your stomach, liver and bowels in a thorough, systematic manner. It's made for that purpose, and thousands will vouch for it. Pepsinco works through the stomach. It digests what is eaten. Take Pepsinco for a few days. A dark, brown taste? I guess not. A coated tongue? No indeed. You'll wake up in the morning clean-mouthed, a sweet smelling, wholesome breath, a pleasing smile and a good healthy appetite. Neuro Pharmaceutical Company, Wapakoneta, Ohio.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.
It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

"Cupid," took their turn at shooting arrows at a large red heart. Miss Laura Deneer and Mr. Nethers were winners in this contest.
The Valentine idea was carried out in the refreshments, heart shaped sandwiches and cakes being served with coffee.

Women In The News

New York, Feb. 16.—The much heralded operetta for suffrage, written by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, will have its opening night tomorrow evening at the Waldorf. "Melinda and Her Sisters" is the title, and the piece is a satire on society. Marie Dressler, Mme. Frances Alda and other notables will be in the cast, and some clever burlesques of the follies of the age will be shown. It seems that Melinda is one of eight sisters. The other seven have been working egotistically for their own individual pleasures and desires, while Melinda alone has been working for others. Of course Melinda is due to round up the selfish ones, and those of the audience who are susceptible to her arguments. Miss Elsie Maxwell, a clever young composer from California, wrote the music for the show, and her productions have a "go" to them that will captivate the audience.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 16.—In last year's business records of women insurance agents in the United States, the name of Miriani tops the list of the successful. She is Mrs. Elizabeth Mariani, a daughter of the late Tom Johnson, mayor of the city and political leader in his day. She was a society belle, became a playwright, and married an Italian nobleman. After the death of her father, it was found that the fortune he had possessed had shrunk to a small sum, and Mrs. Mariani became an insurance agent in New York. She is reputed to be earning $20,000 a year.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 16.—According to articles sent to her home papers by Mrs. S. S. Douglas of this city, who is in Paris working in the American hospital, the genius of the hospital is Miss Grace Gassette of Chicago, who was formerly an art student. She has invented new kinds of bandages to meet war conditions, and she has fifty volunteer assistants turning out big quantities of surgical dressings.

St. Louis, Feb. 16.—When the Democratic political leaders meet for their national convention here in June, they will find the suffragists camped on the next lot, ready to demand that a suffrage plank be placed in the party platform. A big parade will be one of the forcible arguments to show that the women mean business, and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt will personally head the conference committee, it is said. A similar demonstration will be conducted at Chicago, when the Republicans hold their national convention.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The President's granddaughter, Miss Ellen Wilson McAdoo, is the champion fresh-air baby. She has set the style, and mothers everywhere are interested in her new sleeping arrangements. So successful has proved her own window-box crib, protruding from an upper window of the McAdoo home, and so highly has it been recommended by prominent physicians, that similar models are being made in many homes where baby's needs are paramount. Mrs. McAdoo adopted the window-crib scheme to insure the health of her daughter, and the physicians who have seen it say it is Washington, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Leona Wells has completed fifteen years in the federal service, and she was once the highest salaried woman in the government service. She has done important constructive work at the Capitol, and has an enviable record. She was the first woman to be given the important position of clerk to a Senate Committee. Mrs. Wells has voted in her home state of Wisconsin since she came to voting age. Her sex has been no hindrance to her progress, she says, except that it has debarred her from the floor of the Senate.
